Storyteller Clem Bowen Visits Tick Tock Early Learning Center

With a soft chant of zum gali gali and a soft pat on a drum, local musician and story teller Clem Bowen slowly made his way across the classroom at Tick Tock Early Learning Center. His steps were large and exaggerated and the children's anticipation built until finally he was in front of the children with his many instruments and his many stories, making them laugh and sing and dance.

Mr. Bowen's deep, melodic voice made every word he spoke sound special and those words had the children giggling so hard they held their stomachs. Peals of laughter echoed throughout the building as he told the children of his family's move to a new home when he was eight and how he handled that change. Woven throughout were Christmas carols and holiday songs that the kids sang along with.

Tick Tock Board Member Tammy Brosius was at the Center for the show as well. Mrs. Brosius remembered bringing her children to see Clem Bowen when they were young and she has such great memories of his performance and the impact it had on her own children that she couldn't resist seeing him again. He did not disappoint!

This is just one of the many special treats the children at Tick Tock will have this holiday season. We even hear that a special someone might be coming down from the North Pole
